NO SCENE VAG CARDS!!!

NO SCENE ZINE VAG CARD EDITION

We walked in the valley of the shadow of death and we tripped over Valentine's Day. Chalk-like candy printed with unworthy compliments scattered across the floor and we were jabbed by cupid's arrow but like in a really awkward part where it rubs against the seam of your jeans.

Valentine's Day harbors the feeling that we must have someone or we are no one. And it only leads to disappointment in the candy department when compared to Halloween. So, No Scene decided to give a leg up to Valentine's Day with a stellar selection of Valentine's Day cards! Give em to your friends, lovers, would-be lovers, mailman, barista, coke dealer, tarot card reader, guy who likely pees on your stoop, guy who certainly does pee on your stoop, cats, or just post them on your fridge to give the impression you are popular.

Sergeant General's Warning: These cards can be habit forming and are not guaranteed to win over the heart of those who they are given to. However, they will give you personality, which let's be honest, Tammy – you could use a little.
